

Agata Strzelecka joined Alior Bank in 2008. Until 2013, she pursued her career with the HR & Payroll Department, most recently as its Director. In 2013-2016, she was Director for IT & Operations, Director of the Operations Department, and from 2016, General Director for Operations. She successfully led business projects providing added value services to business clients and reducing the bank's cost base. In Operations, she was responsible for the development and implementation of the merger with Meritum Bank and Bank BPH. She is now responsible for Operations and for a number of projects including robotization and process automation, which are key priorities under the Digital Disruptor Strategy. Before joining Alior Bank, she was an HR and finance executive.

Mateusz Poznański has over 20 years of experience in retail banking. He was recently Alior Bank's Managing Director responsible for product offer for retail clients, business consumer finance and the Client Relations Department.

Before joining the bank, he worked with ING Bank for 12 years, among others as Executive Director for Retail Banking. Previously, Managing Director of Direct Banking and Head of Distribution of ING Bank's Retail Sales. He moved to ING from Credit Agricole Group, with which he worked in distribution management area.

Mateusz Poznański holds a degree in management and finance from School of Management and Banking in Poznań and the Wrocław University of Economics. He also completed several business courses for executives including INSEAD, Fontainebleau, France.

Maciej Surdyk joined Alior Bank in 2013. He was most recently Managing Director for Corporate Banking Development. His business line contributed to the strong improvement of the bank's position in the micro-firm and SME segments.

Previously he worked for 10 years with Bank BPH, where he developed a successful career in services for business clients, most recently as Managing Director for Lending. Previously he was Director of the Business Client Department and Director of the Sales Support. He was also the leader of a project integrating the corporate and SME segments.

Maciej Surdyk holds a degree from the Poznań University of Economics and completed the Advanced Management Program IESE Business School.