Our audit approach

Overview

- The overall materiality threshold adopted for the purposes of our audit was set at PLN 11.5 million, which represents 0.9% of the total assets of the Group.

- We have audited the annual financial statement of the Parent Company and we have conducted audit procedures for selected financial statements line items for specific subsidiaries in Poland.
 - The scope of our audit covered 100% of the Group's revenue and 100% of the sum of total assets of all the consolidated Group companies before consolidation eliminations.

- Timing of revenue recognition

As part of designing our audit, we determined materiality and assessed the risks of material misstatement in the consolidated financial statements. In particular, we considered where the Parent Company's Management Board made subjective judgements; for example, in respect of significant accounting estimates that involved making assumptions and considering future events that are inherently uncertain. As in all of our audits we also addressed the risk of management override of internal controls, including among other matters, consideration of whether there was evidence of bias that represented a risk of material misstatement due to fraud.

Materiality

The scope of our audit was influenced by our application of materiality. An audit is designed to obtain reasonable assurance whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement. Misstatements may arise due to fraud or error. They are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the consolidated financial statements.

Based on our professional judgement, we determined certain quantitative thresholds for materiality, including the overall materiality for the consolidated financial statements as a whole, as set out in the table below. These, together with qualitative considerations, helped us to determine the scope of our audit and the nature, timing and extent of our audit procedures and to evaluate the effect of misstatements, if any, both individually and in aggregate on the consolidated financial statements as a whole.

Overall Group materiality	PLN 11.5 million
How we determined it	0.9% of the total assets of the Group
Rationale for the materiality benchmark applied	We have adopted the Groups' total assets as the basis for determining materiality because the value of total assets, in our opinion, is an indicator commonly used by the users of financial statements to evaluate the operations of entities on the real estate market. We adopted the materiality threshold at 0.9% because based on our professional judgement it is within the acceptable quantitative materiality thresholds.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. They include the most significant identified risks of material misstatements, including the identified risks of material misstatement resulting from fraud. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon. We do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
Timing of revenue recognition Revenue arising from sales of residential projects, amounted to PLN 387.7 million for the period ended 31 December 2024 (period ended 31 December 2023: PLN 395.5 million), which represents 100% of total revenue of the Group for the period. Revenue is one of the key figures reflecting the results of the Group’s operating activities, and determining how to recognize it often requires judgement. The Group recognizes revenue when the performance obligation is satisfied as the result of transferring control over the promised real estate to the customer and determines that the transfer of control over an asset occurs at the moment when the property is physically transferred to the client provided that obtaining payment is certain. In the opinion of the Management, control is considered to be transferred to the customer when the handover report confirming the transfer has been signed by the customer and the Group’s representative and the entire amount resulting from the sale agreement has been paid by the buyer. Given the importance of the described matter for the correct revenue recognition by the Group in the consolidated financial statements, we considered determination of the accounting policy for revenue recognition, and in particular the timing of revenue recognition as key audit matter. In the consolidated financial statements, accounting policy and disclosures relating to revenue recognition, valuation and its structure are presented in Notes to consolidated financial statements point 3(b) and note 5 to the consolidated financial statements.	Our audit procedures comprised in particular: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a) evaluation of whether applied accounting policies with regard to revenue recognition complied with requirements in IFRS 15 “Revenue from Contracts with Customers”; b) understanding and evaluating the revenue recognition process and application of IFRS 15; c) identification and evaluation of controls in this area; d) conducting substantive tests in order to verify whether revenue was recognized in the correct period in relation to the indicators of transfer of the control, in particular tests of documents for randomly selected samples, reconciliation to source documents (primarily development contracts, handover reports, notarial deeds, sales invoices and bank statements); e) analytical procedures among others over the gross margin in order to confirm completeness of costs and revenue in the period; f) evaluating adequacy and completeness of disclosures relating to revenue presented in the consolidated financial statements;

Responsibility of the Management and Supervisory Board for the consolidated financial statements

The Management Board of the Parent Company is responsible for the preparation of the annual consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view of the Group’s financial position and results of operations, in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the European Union, the adopted accounting policies, the applicable laws and the Parent Company’s Articles of Association, and for such internal control as the Management Board determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the Parent Company's Management Board is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Management Board either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Parent Company's Management Board and members of the Supervisory Board are obliged to ensure that the consolidated financial statements comply with the requirements specified in the Accounting Act of 29 September 1994 ("the Accounting Law"). Members of the Supervisory Board are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process.

Auditor's responsibility for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the NSA will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

The scope of the audit does not include an assurance on the Group's future profitability nor the efficiency and effectiveness of the Parent Company's Management Board conducting its affairs, now or in future.

As part of an audit in accordance with NSA, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Parent Company's Management Board.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Parent Company's Management Board's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

- Plan and perform the group audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business units within the Group as a basis for forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and review of the audit work performed for the purpose of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the Supervisory Board regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

From the matters communicated to the Supervisory Board, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
